Travian Games started a trial period of their free to use Online Service Platform MYGAME

The German browsergamesprovider simplifies with MYGAME communication with a modern twist

Munich, February 01, 2012. Travian Games has always kept its millions of players worldwide at the focal point of its development, by offering products that provide months of entertainment and terrific community features. The company based in Munich/Germany has launched a new service platform with MYGAME that will initially run for a trial period in a Closed Beta in order to really put its functionality through its paces.

In MYGAME, each player can see their history, achievements and statistics thanks to their own unique profile at www.mygame.org and can also communicate with other players across all products thanks to the Central Tool and regardless of completed or launched worlds! Even with a closed player account from one of the Travian Games products, users can also continue browsing around in MYGAME till their heart's content, to keep in touch with friends and former alliance partners. The service platform will celebrate its premiere with Travian 4 players before they are gradually expanded to additional Travian Games releases. As an optional extra, all game achievements and accomplishments of players can be continuously stored and archived for posterity. So MYGAME will then be established as a central collection site for all statistics, community features and databases.

The starter's gun will sound for MYGAME closed beta only with selected players, staff of Travian Games and its development studios worldwide, before MYGAME is expected to be launched in a few weeks for the first players with a valid a Travian 4 account. Free, with no defined limits and above all with self-defined specs, the extensive possibilities of MYGAME can then be experienced. So Travian Games has once again demonstrated its customer friendliness and hopes that it can deliver its players another positive experience. For more information, the exact start date and the website will be unveiled in a few weeks.
